MORNING APPEAL

TUESDAY.....APRIL 30

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARY.

It is a very difficult task to say anything about the first century of a Republic. The reason is obvious; the best writers, orators and poets have been utilizing the Republic as a theme for about three-quarters of a century, and they have absolutely exhausted the field.

If we were able to say anything in this connection which no one else had ever said we would say it gladly and quickly, but as the matter stands we must repeat someone else's language or be silent.

When it comes down to the facts of the cace, however, no one who has ever attempted to dscribe the size, grandure and magnificence of the Republic in which the APPEAL is fortunate enough to be published, has ever been able to say half enough.

Heritage & Gaige might put a fresh coat of paint on a lily, but they would not be able to improve its general appearance, although as house painters they stand well.

The APPEAL can shake up the incidents of a horse race at a District Fair in satisfactory shape, but when it comes to expatiate on a Republic the size of the United States, it feels inferior to the undertaking. There is no lack of willingness on its part; simply lack of ability to grasp in a proper manner a thing so big.

We might pat the Republic on the back in a pleasant, agreeable way, but to shout out the sort of eulogy the Republic deserves would be quite a different thing. We pass our hand when we come to a Republic of this size.

TRIED THE WRONG MAN.

Female blackmailers have always plied a brisk trade in San Francisco. The outcome of the Palacios-Brittan trial will cause this class of people to think twice before starting suits, the only purpose of which is to extort money.

The plaintiff was a woman who claimed to have been criminally assaulted by Brittan, in whose family she worked. She wanted several thousand dollars for the outrage. The defendant declined to be blackmailed, and went into Court and proved that the plaintiff's regular business was to extort money from people by threatening to bring criminal charges.

But for the fact that other people who had been blackmiled by the same woman, coming into court, he would have been unable to establish his innocence, and a cloud of disgrace would have hung over himself and family forever.

The woman who put the dirty job up ought to be made to break rock in San Quentin for life.

THE WILD AND WOOLY COMSTOCK. -A lady, writing to the Chronicle, complains that the dancers of the Comstock put their hands to a girls waist and leave large black imprints on the costly material. This sort of a thing is getting to be a great nuisance in Virginia city, and Carson ladies who go up there to a dance, generally have to purchase new waists for their dresses. Of course nothing like this ever happens in Carson, where people who go to balls, first wash their hands and wear gloves on both. The Comstock still continues wild and wooley and always will lack the refined cult. of Carson and Reno. The only way to stand off dirty hands is for the ladies to wear gunnysacks around their waists to catch the amalgam, engine grease, concentrates and black sulphuretes that frequently get on to people's hands in a lively mining camp.

It is only fair to Miss Mary Anderson to say that upon her return to this country she will not repeat what she said of American newspapers upon her arrival in England. She gave out the idea that all the American newspapers were abusing her, when the fact is, they were net mentioning her name at all. Still, the published interview was as good as losing a set of diamonds.

Triumph's dam is the celebrated St. Clair mare, Lady Brighton, owned by Mr. M. Toomy of Sacramento. His dam is now over 20 years old and can trot in 240 any day in the week. Senator Stanford in his catalogue of 1887 was breeding to 26 St. Clair brood mares and the most of bis horses that have made the best records for 2-3 and year-olds are out of St. Cleir mares, namely: Fred Crocker dam by St. Clair, two year old record 2 25½: Bonito, dam by St. Clair, 2 year old record 2 1874; Manzanita, dam by St. Clair, 4 year old record 2 16 fastess on record.
